Financial Literacy Programme

Empowering Māori to navigate through today's financial landscape

A five module course written and presented by Māori, for Māori

This programme is specifically designed for Māori who struggle to achieve financial independence in today's world.

Why this programme was developed.

Financial Literacy is a fundamental life skill all whānau should possess and while there are various programmes available, our programme has a Māori focus.

Our wānanga are designed specifically with a Māori lens using Te Arawa pūrākau and kōrero from our koeke to reiterate and reinforce the kaupapa. We feel it is important to have a financial literacy programme that include and embed Te Ao Māori values to support whānau financial wellbeing.

Interweaving whakapapa powerfully demonstrates the attributes required to succeed financially and build mana.

Whakapapa is important to us as it connects us with our tūpuna, whānau, whenua, iwi and marae. It's how we learn about our family history and trace our genealogy, and it's knowing who we are and where we're from.

As the core of mātauranga Māori (Māori knowledge), our whakapapa provides us with identity and history, and connects.

Whakapapa also captures the stories of descendants, their connection to whenua (land) and events that have shaped history. Hence, whakapapa also represents the histories of people, places and events that provide the context for where we are now.

Whakapapa teaches us important historical lessons that have future-focused implications. It is the responsibility of current descendants to ensure the healthy and positive continuation of their whakapapa (Keelan, 2014)

We will weave our Te Arawa whakapapa into our wānanga to enhance healthy and positive outcomes, with financial wellbeing for whānau.

Kaumātua share their whakaaro providing the Māori perspective on financial matters

Kaumātua had an important leadership role.

Kaumātua, both male and female elders, were the leaders of the whānau. They would make decisions concerning the whānau, land, the control and use of whānau property, the rearing and education of children, and were the spokespeople for the whānau in tribal councils.

Giving voice to kaumātua perspectives and experiences, regarding money matters allows an opportunity for us to hear from our leaders on this kaupapa.

The programme emphasises the importance of whānau and community in financial decision making

This wānanga puts whānau at the centre of decision making, building kaitiakitanga about their financial wellbeing and supports them to identify and achieve their goals.

For whānau, hapū and Iwi, kaitiakitanga is also about responsibility. We have a responsibility to support the wellbeing of our whānau.

You will learn the good management skills needed and be able to share these with your whānau, your tamariki and mokopuna.

There are five wānanga in this programme. We encourage you to attend all five.

Module One Forming a money mindset

Changing our negative habits and thoughts around money.

Module Two How to setup a budget

Knowing where you spend your money.

Module Three How to control debt

Understanding and managing your debt.

Module Four Understanding credit records

Improving and maintaining your credit record.

Module Five Banks and emergency funds

Selecting a bank or bank account that is right for you.

Schedule of upcoming wānanga.

Each course is made up of five modules presented over five weeks to complete the full wānanga.

There are four courses available. Please see the schedule below.

Registrations must be made before closing booking date.

The wānanga will be held at Te Pokapū board room, 1199 Fenton Street (opposite Rotorua Police Station)
